BILL AND BOB

The spark was struck

Bob met Bill on Mother's Day, May 12, 1935, at Henrietta Seiberling's home. The two Vermonters had a lot in common – most significantly, their alcoholism. Bob later said of Bill, "[He] was the first living human with whom I had ever talked who knew what he was talking about in regard to alcoholism from actual experience." As Bill put it, "The spark was struck." He stayed in Akron for three more months.

Now Alcoholics Anonymous tackles the LADY SOUSE Problem

How this most unusual group of reformed drunks meets the added opportunity to help, because of the increase in feminine tipping (shown by hospital records and by women's feet on the bar stools)

WOMEN attribute the increase in feminine tipping directly to the increase in the number of women who are drinking. Whether the women are lady barflies is a problem.

alcoholics were referred to as "souses" and "elbow benders." And compromises sometimes needed to be made: Bill allowed a photograph of himself and other A.A.s to appear, without captioning, in a March 1941 issue of the Saturday Evening Post because he knew how important the Jack Alexander article was to A.A.'s future. However, especially early on, the press

A.A. Moves into the Future

In 1958, a meeting of young A.A.s from across the U.S. and Canada started what is now the International Conference of Young People in Alcoholics Anonymous (ICYPAA), and it has flourished ever since. Young people's groups try to counter the words that they may hear from friends and even family – that they are simply too young to be "real" alcoholics – as well as to bring the newcomer into the mainstream of A.A. recovery.

A.A.s Jatter Worldwide

There are encouraging trends that indicate that A.A. is continuing to spread (and take root) across the globe. The number of licenses A.A.W.S. grants for translation of literature has skyrocketed. A.A. is growing more rapidly in areas including Iran, Bulgaria, Uzbekistan, Mongolia, India, China and Cuba. The biennial World Service Meeting has seen encouraging growth, from 41 to 45 countries and 60 to 72
